jeunesse: young people, texts, cultures

The Association for Research in Cultures of Young People (ARCYP) is a scholarly society that promotes the study of and research in the cultures and texts of young people, in Canada and internationally, across a range of disciplines, and builds an understanding of such scholarship that defines “young people,” “culture,” and “text” broadly. ARCYP works to create interdisciplinary spaces to exchange research on the cultures and texts of young people and to create opportunities for collaborations.

ARCYP membership is open to any cultural producer, academic, professional, or interested person engaged in the production, research, teaching, or study of young people’s texts and cultures.

As a benefit of being an ARCYP member, you will receive a free subscription to Jeunesse: Young People, Texts, Cultures, as well as the opportunity to participate in annual conference presentations and to take part in listserv discussions.

For more information about ARCYP and how to apply for membership, see <<http://arcyp.ca>>.
